AEA Seeks to Get Department Out of Politics

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A constitutional amendment to take the state Board of Education out of the hands of the Legislature is being sought by education officials. It was revealed here today.

Sponsored by the Arkansas Education Association, the proposed amendment was described as a move to "stabilize the Board of Education."

Pans for the proposal were made public when Atty. Gen. Tom Gentry's office approved the popular name and ballot title.

The notice of approval was sent to Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the AEA. Rozzell said the AEA decided May 5 to sponsor the proposal.

He said the proposed amendment "is not a slap at either the Cherry or Faubus administrations because neither made any effort to tamper with the board."

The proposed amendment, he said, would be a guarantee against possible interference in the future.

Rozzell said the proposal was aimed at setting up the number of board members and the length of their terms through the constitution. The AEA wants the board set up by the constitution the same as it is now—9 members serving terms of 9 years.

Backers of the proposal will need the signatures of 33,513 qualified voters on petitions to gain the proposal a place on the November general election ballot.

The deadline for filing petitions with the secretary of state is July 6.

Russia Has Challenged U. S. Lead

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russians announced decision to cut its military manpower by about 25 per cent has challenged U. S. leadership of the free world at several crucial points:

1. It has increased the difficulties of maintaining Western military strength. Although such a cutback is not likely to affect Russia's capacity for atomic war, the move will almost certainly be regarded in many countries as evidence of peaceful Soviet intentions lessening Western defense needs.

2. It generates new pressure on the Eisenhower administration to regain the initiative from the Russians through some bold new move. Not all these pressures come from Democratic critics; there apparently is some such concern inside the administration.

3. The problem of keeping cold war neutrals alert to the dangers of expanding Soviet influence through political and economic infiltration is intensified.

The ground seems to have been cut from under one of this country's strategies for pressuring Russia to agree to the reunification of Germany, and the solution of that outstanding East-West problem therefore becomes more difficult.

Ozark Town Threatened By Flood

By United Press
Spring floods covered farmlands in southwest Missouri and northwestern Arkansas today and threatened the ozark resort city of Branson.

Southern California meanwhile sizzled in a record-breaking heat wave. The temperature hit 96 at Los Angeles, setting a new record, and went to 98 at Santa Ana and Thermal yesterday. Thousands of sweltering residents jammed the beaches.

The Missouri-Arkansas floods followed 30 hours of spring rains. Skies cleared over the area today and the White river flood crest at Branson, Mo., was expected to recede rapidly after rivaling the 1938 level of 20 feet.

Many businesses in the resort town went unattended as residents aided in large-scale evacuation of hundreds of vacationers. Permanent residents of low-lying resort sections also moved out.

The floods claimed the lives of two boys and sent a freight train plunging through a bridge elsewhere.

Bobby Lowe, 4, and his brother, Dewain, 9, drowned in a creek bed near Cassville, Mo., which is normally dry. Dewain died in a futile effort to save his brother. Near Eureka Springs, Ark., a freight train plunged through a rain-weakened bridge into 25 feet of water. Three men were injured.

TV Permit Transfer Is Requested

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Jonesboro radio broadcast company has requested permission to transfer the construction permit for a channel 8 station at Jonesboro to Central-South Sales Co. for $6,500.

Regional Broadcasting made the request of the federal Communications Commission yesterday.

Central-South Sales operates KATV at Pine Bluff and Little Rock and has other radio and TV interests at Fort Smith, Ark., and Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Muskogee, Okla.

That Good Feeling May Be Due to Spring or Perhaps Because This Is National Tavern Month

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Has life held a foamy wonder for you lately? Have you felt better without knowing why?

Maybe it's because spring has come at last.

On the other hand, it may be because this is National Tavern Month. Yes, good old National Tavern Month is just another page on the calendar—the interval between the end of April and the first of June, just a time when the days get longer and warmer.

This disinterest naturally hurts the feelings of the sponsors of National Tavern Month, who spend a lot of money promoting it.

Mystery Plane Capable of Over 1,400 mph

WASHINGTON (INS) — A top Pentagon official disclosed today that mystery plane is being developed which will have a "higher performance than two 1,400-mile-an-hour types cancelled yesterday."

Assistant Defense Secretary Clifford C. Furnas told the Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee that money was only one factor behind the Air Force action in rescinding contracts for development of a long-range interceptor and of a fighter bomber.

Furnas indicated that the major reason for the cancellation is that the Air Force thinks it has in sight a much better plane. He gave no details of the mystery craft but said it will have a "higher performance and is a 'more desirable plane.'"

The two projects cancelled yesterday called for an all-weather interceptor being developed by North American of Los Angeles and Northrop Aircraft Co. of Hawthorne, Calif., and a sighter-bomber being developed by North American and Republic Aircraft of Farmingdale, N. Y.

The gray-haired spinster is accused of embezzling nearly three million dollars from the Commonwealth Building and Loan Association of Norfolk over a period of 22 years.

The largest embezzlement on record is attributed to Gilbert H. Beesemyer, who was charged with taking $7,681,793 from a building and loan firm in Hollywood, Calif., 25 years ago. He was paroled in 1940 after serving nine years of a 40-year term.

Miss Mangum worked for Commonwealth 28 years and for the last few years served as assistant secretary-treasurer.

The shortages were discovered in mid-December and Miss Mangum was arrested four days after Christmas.

A special committee was instructed to go ahead with a plan to fix up a community rest room for Negro visitors to the city, the probable site to be in a building on Third Street between Hazel and Walnut.

At the request of Attorney P. T. Staggs delay was granted on condemnation of property until the house could be repaired. Mr. Staggs told the group his client wished to purchase the property and planned immediate repairs.

The city will advertise for bids on lease of city-owned land for farming and grass at the Airport site. About 1,300 acres are available.

Chief of Police Jack Brown told the group that the fine meter boxes were paying off and the Council voted to purchase them following the trial period.

Marlbrook to Hold Homecoming on Sunday, May 20

Marlbrook Church, two miles east of Blevins on Highway 24, will hold its annual Homecoming Sunday, May 20, it was announced by Troy Wade of Blevins.

Services at 11 a. m. will be conducted by the Rev. J. D. Montgomery, pastor of First Methodist Church of Bradley. Dinner will be served on the grounds and singing is scheduled for the afternoon.

Marlbrook is one of the oldest churches in the County, having been organized February 4, 1860. Through all the years a Sunday School has been maintained and its well-kept cemetery serves a wide area.

Besides meeting old acquaintances of former years plans and funds for proper care of the Cemetery is made possible at the Homecomings.

The Rev. Mr. Montgomery is a former pastor of the Church, formerly served Hope as Mayor, is a qualified attorney and a former member of the State Legislature. He has been a minister for 40 years.

Stock Market in Quick Change

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned mixed today after a higher start.

Almost all major divisions were mixed. Automobiles were an exception. They sagged in the face of new predictions of still lower production for the industry this year.

H. H. Curtice, president of General Motors, said GM was laying off additional workers this week, and he made a sharp downward revision in his estimates of industrywide production—22 per cent under last year.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Minnie Mangum, charged with stealing more money than any other woman in U. S. history, faced her first trial today.

Local Man Is Beaten by Four Negro Slayers

TEXARKANA (AP) — Four Negroes have admitted beating an elderly white man to death with their fists in a robbery that netted nine dollars, police said yesterday.

The victim was M. R. Hamm, whose body was found in a ditch near a gravel road five miles east of here yesterday. He had been missing since last Wednesday.

Sheriff W. E. Davis said that four young Negro men, arrested in connection with a similar roadside robbery, had led officers to the body and had admitted robbing and beating him.

He identified them as James Boyd, 19, Rogers Boone, 24, James More, 23, and W. H. Byrd, 23, all of the Mandeville community near here. All have been charged with robbery and murder in connection with the attack on Hamm.

Davis said that Boone and Boyd were arrested after T. B. Fenwick of Hope was robbed and beaten severely on a rural road eight miles north of here. Boone and Boyd implicated the other two Negroes, the sheriff said.

Davis quoted the four men as saying they took a watch and one dollar from Fenwick and fled when they saw someone at a nearby farmhouse. The officer said that Fenwick had been hitchhiking and was "groceries."

Fenwick was not seriously hurt and left for Hope after medical treatment.

Only Routine Action in Council Meet

Hope City Council took up routine matters in a long session last night that brought plenty of discussion but not much action.

The Mayor submitted a proposed budget for the balance of the year and next year with the recommendation that no action be taken immediately and that each alderman study it for possible changes and recommendations.

The group placed Commissioner Fred Russell in charge of all trash and garbage hauling trucks; hired an extra man for work in the Cemetery for the next two months; purchased a hand push mower for the cemetery and discussed the garbage disposal problem, finally recommending that various experiments be carried out before a final action on the system to be used is taken.

20 Escape Worst Tragedy in Canada's History

OTTAWA (AP) — A Canadian fighter, ordered aloft on an interception mission, that proved a false alarm, rocketed from a 10,000-mile altitude into a Roman Catholic nuns' rest home last night and left 15 persons dead or missing.

Fuel from the 17-ton CF100 craft spewed across the three-story brick structure and fed an inferno.

Most of the victims were aged and bedridden nuns. Others were the fighters two men crewed a priest and a woman cook employed at the home, operated by the Grey Nuns of the Cross along the Ottawa River seven miles east of Ottawa.

Four of the 22 nuns who escaped were injured.

Sister Marie Emond, assistant general of the order, said there were 35 persons in the convent.

Eleven nuns, ranging in age from 21 to 77, were given up as dead.

The bodies of three nuns and the priest had been recovered from the smoldering debris early today. The Royal Canadian Air Force detailed 100 men to search for the others.

The RCAF disclosed the CF100 had been ordered up to identify a mysterious transport from the Arctic on which it had been detected.

The RCAF said the transport was a flight plan. The fighter crew ascertained the transport was a RCAF North Star bound for Montreal.

A spokesman said the transport flight plan had been filed, but that it was delayed because the North Star was coming in from the Arctic, a strategic zone from the north. Communications from that area are occasionally difficult.

Cases have been known before in which planes flying from the Arctic, a strategic zone in North America's defense, have overtaken their flight plans to that they reached their destination before ground control units were aware of their approach.

Ike Scores Big Lead Over Kefauver

OMAHA, Mo. — President Eisenhower, outlasted Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) nearly 2-1 yesterday or the basis of still incomplete returns from a Nebraska primary election preference primary election.

It was about par for Nebraska political course, and Democrats looking for signs of a rural revolt against administration farm policies got little cause for encouragement here.

Neither the Republican chief executive nor the Tennessee Democrat was opposed on his party's ballot. Write-ins were permitted, but their numbers proved inconsequential.

Official returns from 1,383 of 2,127 precincts gave Eisenhower 67,921, Kefauver 32,019. In percentages, that's about 64 to 36.

In the 1952 Nebraska primary, Republican balloters outnumbered Democrats about 55-45. Two years ago the GOP margin swelled to 67-33.

Four Persons Meet Death in Accidents

By The Associated Press

Two unrelated but similar accidents involving transport trucks took four lives in Arkansas yesterday.

Two women were killed and two injured when their car and a transport truck collided at the intersection of Highways 67 and 64 near Beebe in central Arkansas.

Mrs. Frank Hayes of Duncan, Okla., and Mrs. Docia Bowen of Arkansas were killed. Mrs. LeVerna Burns, 28, of Duncan and Mrs. Jennie Mae Angley, 55, of Linton, Okla., were hospitalized.

Elvis May of St. Louis, the driver of the truck, was not injured.

A Marion Negro couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Halbrook, were killed when their car, which they were driving, and a big truck smashed together. O. C. B. Halbrook, 31, was injured seriously.

The accident occurred eight miles north of Marion on Highway 61.

State Trooper C. Hampton said that Clarence McCollough, 36, of Elberton, Mo., the truck driver, suffered only slightly injuries.

HECK OF A THING

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP) —

Adolph Lefco, 74, threw some of his old personal papers into a city trash can and soon found out how long the arm of the law can be.

A sanitation worker found the papers and gave them to a policeman who discovered an unpaid parking ticket issued against Lefco in 1932.

Lefco paid a $8.03 fine, complaining "this is a heck of a thing after 24 years."

More Leeway in Purchases Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill designed to give processors more leeway in purchasing commodity "futures" has received the approval of the House Agriculture subcommittee headed by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark).

Under the present Commodity Exchange Act regulations, a purchaser may buy for future delivery as a hedge against firm sales commitments, plus specified amounts.

The new bill would permit a processor to buy futures contracts covering anticipated requirements for a full year. Such deals would not be subject to capital gains taxes.

Gathings said an amendment approved by the subcommittee provides that a processors liquidation of his futures must be in an orderly manner and in line with regulations laid down by the secretary of agriculture.

Grain dealers and representatives of the New Orleans and New York cotton exchanges favored the bill.

Bells Installed 250,000th Phone

EL DORADO, Mo. — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said it installed its 250,000th telephone in Arkansas here today.

The new subscribers were Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bell, who recently moved here from Texas.

Robert L. Bankson, general commercial manager, said the company had only 18,178 telephones operating in Arkansas 10 years ago. Southwestern installed more telephones in Arkansas during the past 10 years than during the previous 67 years, he said.

The installation today brings the total number of telephones in Arkansas to about 320,000, including those operated by 80 independent companies, Southwestern said.

Another Royal Romance Denied

LONDON (AP) — An informant in touch with Britain's royal family described as "an absolute lie" today a rumor that Princess Margaret plans to marry German-born Prince Christian of Hanover.

"They hardly know each other," the source said.

The Daily Express quoted the 35-year-old Christian as saying "I can neither confirm nor deny the rumor."

The informant said the princess command of English was not the best and he apparently had made this statement in reply to questions without quite realizing its implications.

Non-Swimmer Saves Boat and Man

VAN BUREN, Mo. — A man who can't swim added into the current of the Arkansas River here yesterday to rescue a fisherman.

Jim White, 25, of Fort Smith, tried to retrieve his boat when it drifted away while he was fishing from a pier.

When Whites boat came close to the bank, 34-year-old Ray Hooten, also of Fort Smith, waded out to it, climbed in and paddled out to White, who was having trouble in the swift current.

Hooten lifted White into the boat and brought him safely to shore. White had been in the water about 15 minutes. He was released after observation at a Fort Smith hospital.

ular picture today with the trend a trifle lower in the late afternoon. The decline went to around 2 points but there also were gains of that amount or better.

Trading was considerably lower at an estimated 2,100,000 shares than yesterday's 2,640,000.

General Motors unsettled not only the motor division but also the rest of the market. He downturn came after H. H. Currier, GM president, announced a new reduction in GM production and cut back his estimate of this years output for the entire industry. He said it would be down some 22 per cent from last year.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

CHICAGO (AP) — A firm tone ruled in grains on the Board of Trade today.

In moderately active dealings old crop soybeans pushed ahead several cents, leading the advance. Wheat also was quite strong, particularly the May delivery. Good soybean meal exports helped soybeans.

Wheat closed: 1-2 higher. May $2.29 1/2, corn 14- higher. May $1.49 3/4, oats unchanged to higher, May 67-68 3/4, rye unchanged to 1 cent higher. May $1.24 1/4, soybeans 1 1/4 lower to 1 cent higher, May $3.21-$3.21 1/2.

Mr. Truck Buyer!
Why turn your back on the facts?

Your best buy is DODGE...and we can prove it!

Buying a new truck is pretty serious business—not exactly a dime-store affair. So why risk not getting the best buy?

Doesn't it make sense to take a few minutes and check to see for yourself just how much more Dodge actually gives you per dollar?

You'll find Dodge leads other makes in the really important ways. For example, when you buy a Dodge, you get:

1. Maximum hauling power. Dodge sets the pace for the entire industry in many models!
2. Top payload capacities—up to 22% more!

3. Lowest operating costs. Exclusive V-8 Power-Dome combustion milks extra miles from every gallon, practically eliminates power-robbing carbon.

4. Sharpest turning—makes parking easier, cuts time loss in maneuvering through traffic.

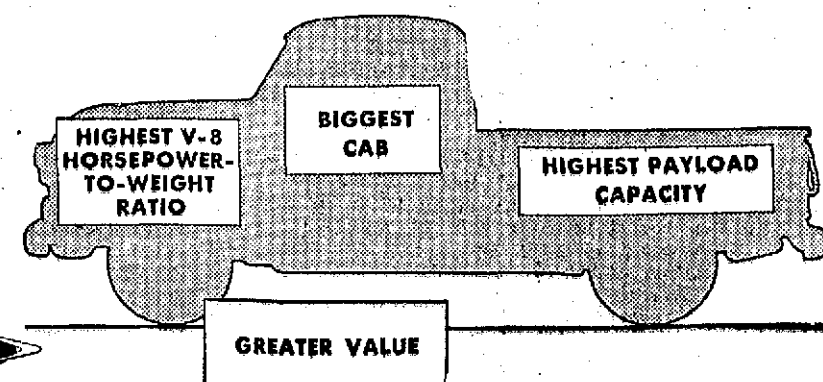

5. Biggest cab—for real comfort on even the longest hauls.

6. Low cost—lower than any other make for many models.

Do right by yourself—take a few minutes to look into DODGE before you buy your new truck. After all, why pay more and get less?

"The Light Within" Was Presented
By Mrs. Jolly Byers
All circles of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met Monday May 14, in the sanctuary. The meeting was opened with the singing of "O Jesus I have Promised" followed by the devotional brought by Mrs. Jolly Byers on "The Light Within" in a most inspiring manner. The minutes were read and approved and recommendation from the executive board was presented to the group by the secretary. The annual treasurers report for the past year and the budget for the coming year was given by the treasurer.

The president, Mrs. Albert Graves announced that the time for the June meeting will be changed to 4 p. m. Reports were heard from various committees, and Miss Irene Thornton gave a most interesting report on the Conference Missionary tour she attended, in New Orleans in April. The meeting closed with the benediction.

Tea Honors Girls Auxiliary And Their Mothers
The members of the Girls Auxiliary and their mothers were honored with a tea given by the First Baptist Church Womens Missionary Society on Monday afternoon from 4-5.

The dining room of the Church was the setting for the occasion, and the tea table was lovely covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink larkspur and Dorothy Perkins roses. Mrs. S. A. Whitlow and Mrs. Perry Moses presided at the tea service. Seventy-five guests called during the afternoon. Mrs. Fred Barr, Mrs. Leon Davis, Mrs. Ben Owen, Mrs. Claude Sutton and Miss Velora Bright serve as counselors for these organizations.

Apparently Filmland Has a New Star

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can you imagine that — I got 350 letters from one television show alone. And I'm going to answer them all myself.

This was the youthful wonder of Anthony Perkins, enjoying his first blush of fame. He was in his dressing room at Paramount, and the letters were scattered about the place. In the center of the room was a typewriter which the studio had loaned him.

"I suppose I should have a secretary to do this," he added. "But gee, I'd hate to send out form letters in reply; the kids would know that's what they are."

I counseled young Perkins that he would soon have to give up his personal fan mail answering routine. The current trickle is nothing to the flood that will be coming. Tony is destined to become one of Hollywood's new — and much-needed — stars. He is tall and loose-limbed, and grins genially. Thus he will have to bear the inevitable comparison to Jimmy Stewart. But he's liable to cut his own niche in Hollywood.

He'll soon be seen as Gary Cooper's son in "The Friendly Persuasion." Right now he's Jack Palance's son in "The Lonely Man." Next he has a plum role of his own in "The Jim Piersall Story." He plays the big league ballplayer who suffered mental illness.

After that, he'll play in the film version of "Joey," the TV drama that brought him the mail.

Besides facing comparison with veteran stars, Tony has another burden: He is the son of the great stage and screen actor Osgood Perkins.

He says that people often say to him, "So you're Osgood Perkins' son—well!" And that's all they say, leaving Tony up in air. He made his first way in the acting business without any family help. He has no memory of his father, who died when the boy was 5. Now 24, Tony knows his father only from a few old movies he has seen.

Around The World

ROME, Italy (UP) — The Vatican's congregation of rites opened three caskets last night to identify officially the remains of Pope Innocent XII.

The exceptional step was a requirement for the forthcoming beatification of the pope, who reigned in the 17th Century. The study of his beatification began a few years after his death and has been subject to periodic examinations ever since.

The last hearing will be held in the presence of Pope Plus next Tuesday when two miracles attributed to him will be examined. He may be beatified in St. Peter's Basilica on June 17.

Last night his casket was carried to the sacristy of St. Peter's where it will remain until his beatification. Then it will be placed under the altar of the small chapel of St. Sebastian.

ROME (UP) — A Rome court will hear evidence from leading jewelers, tailors and furriers on behalf of a movie director who claims he spent a fortune on Actress Silvana Pampanini during a two year romance.

Greek-born Director Morris Ergos sued Miss Pampanini last year for restitution of $49,920 which he said he "advanced" to her to buy jewels and dresses.

MESSINA, Italy (UP) — Marine designee Baron Hans Von Schertel said today he has received worldwide offers from governments and private firms who want to purchase his "unsinkable" passenger boat.

The vessel, which resembles a cross between a seaplane and a space vessel, makes its maiden voyage today. It can handle 72 passengers plus the crew and cruise at 2 miles an hour.

MENDOZA, Argentina (UP) — A naturalist here said today he has discovered the secret of shrinking human heads — just pickle for 24 hours in a 5 per cent solution of tannin, then stuff repeatedly with heated chaff.

Pedro Save of the Juan Mayano museum experimented with a cat's head in an effort to duplicate the grisly feats of the Jivaro head hunters. He succeeded in shrinking it to one-third its normal size.

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UP) — Princess Grace rules 220 more persons than she thought she did. Figures published today showed the principality has increased its population by that number since 1951 to a total of 20,422.

SAN JOSE, C. R. (UP) — Abraham F. Baker, a Honduran who came here from Los Angeles, is in jail today on charges of plotting to assassinate high Costa Rican officials. Intelligence agents say Baker slipped into Costa Rica illegally, intending to kill President Jose Figueres and other national leaders. No motive has been determined for his intended crimes.

of the northern Sahara, authorities here said today. One French soldier was wounded. The bandit leader, identified only as "Gen. Mostepha," was one of 38 Arabs killed and five captured by French patrols between Tiarret and Kijelle, in the area used by arms-smuggling caravans from Libya and Egypt.

Care of a well-selected travel wardrobe isn't hard, even in a hotel bathroom. Permanent pleats (left) are sussed in the wash-basin and dripped dry over the tub. Seams and bindings are smoothed with fingers, pleats are pulled lengthwise to "snap" them in place. Handkerchiefs (top center) dry smooth when plastered wet to a tile wall, window or mirror. Orlon sweaters (bottom center) are sussed, blotted and spread to dry over a plastic sheet on bed, desk top or floor. Ironing (right) is done with ease with a travel-sized steam iron and a folding ironing board. Board folds in half for packing.

DOROTHY DIX

What Price Education? Independent Brother Local Custom

Dear Dorothy Dix: My marriage was an absolute nightmare; my husband was always drunk or with other women. Finally he ran away, leaving me with two small children. I obtained a divorce and have supported the youngsters since, with no help or word from him.

Three years ago I met a man who was everything my husband wasn't. He thinks the world of my children, takes them on picnics and other trips, is hard-working, kind, considerate. He likes people and, while they admire his qualities, they are opposed to our marriage because he speaks broken English.

He has little education but a good trade. They think I will be as all our family are — high-school graduates. I don't know which way lowering myself by this marriage, to make up my mind, yet I know I can't keep this fellow dangling forever.

My first husband had a fine Education, spoke flawless English but brought me nothing but unhappiness.

Dear Janice: There is such a thing, very prevalent in this country, which for want of a better term I shall call education snobbery. Your folks brag of their high-school diplomas, yet many people would consider such an educational achievement minute indeed. For them nothing short of a B. A. is worthy of mention. So you see, everything is a matter of comparison. I know I am proud to number among my friends some whose accents are very pronounced.

If you're made of the right stuff the love and security your friend offers will make these other superficial qualities insignificant. Bring your daughters up the same way and they'll never be ashamed of their stepfather.

As you point out, your first husband's fine education didn't produce anything but misery. Education is a mark in books, a degree to hang on the wall. In itself, it means nothing. What one does with it is the important thing. If a good education helps one to live with his fellow men, be a better citizen, earn the respect and admiration of others, it has been a success. Otherwise, it's a dismal failure.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are a very close family of seven brothers and sisters, always ready to help each other. My youngest brother was married two years ago and since they are building their own home, I know they could use financial aid. However, he never asks for it; none of the rest hesitated when they needed anything. Does he think he's better than we are? CLOSURE HARMONY are!

Dear Close Harmony: Scolded, if ever, have I heard criticism of a family member because he preferred going it on his own. Probably your brother has pride in his own, and his wife's, self-sufficiency. Don't hold it against him.

Dear Dorothy Dix: When a girl goes to a prom, is she supposed to dance only with her date, or with other boys as well? JEAN
Dear Jean: This is pretty much a matter of choice and local custom. Young folks seem to prefer the dancing-with-your-date-only system, while their elders are trying to promote generalized dancing. Find out what the practice will be at the prom to dispel all uncertainty.

Five Persons Kill Die in State Highway Mishaps

By The Associated Press

Five persons died yesterday in Arkansas highway mishaps, four of them in one accident. The four were killed when two automobiles collided head-on on Highway 79 near Marianna early last night.

The fifth victim was Edward Seallen, 76, of Minneapolis, who was killed when his automobile plunged down a 200-foot embankment on Highway 7 near Jasper earlier in the day. He was alone.

Paul M. Clanton, about 55, and Miss Jewell T. Hankins, 53, both of Pine Bluff, were killed instantly in the Marianna collision. So was John Burke Jr., 27, a Forest City Negro funeral director. Wilson Norton, about 46, of Pine Bluff, who was riding in the automobile with Clanton and Miss Hankins, died shortly after being received at a West Memphis hospital.

Clanton was operator of a Pine Bluff beauty parlor and a former executive secretary of the Arkansas Cosmetology Board. Norton, an automobile dealer, was a resident of Jefferson County Sheriff Harold Norton.

Officers said they were unable to tell who was driving the automobile in which the Pine Bluff residents were riding. Burke was alone in his car. Both automobiles were demolished.

Trees growing in Brooklyn and other New York City boroughs number about 2,300,000.

Reynolds to Try Hand With U. S. Audiences

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (U)—Sheldon Reynolds, who five years ago caused the nation's dry cleaners considerable pain by glamorizing the dirty trenchcoat, is over from Paris for 10 days in connection with a new challenge for the TV audience.

Reynolds, for the benefit of those viewers who go into the kitchen during the period when the credits are rolled on their screen, is the producer of a three-part, half-hour adventure series called "Foreign Intrigue."

Last year Reynolds, who just passed his 32nd birthday and has a low boring point, got fed up with the missing-papers-and-kidnapped-prime minister routine and produced a series of "Sherlock Holmes" adventures as a change of diet.

None of this, however, means that "Foreign Intrigue" has disappeared. In second and, sometimes it seems, fifth re-runs, they are still showing all over the lot. So is the "Sherlock" series. And all this means that Reynolds is a very wealthy young man. He is also the setting image of Frank Sinatra in the pre-Ava Gardner swan era.

Reynolds, after four wildly successful years of spinning adventure and detection yarns with cameras all over Europe, has indulged in a brand new departure. He has made an hour-long TV film, sort of a test case for a theory, which will be shown come fall on ABC. It is called "International Theatre," and if the pilot film goes over it will be a series of unrelated dramas, running the gamut from comedy to tragedy.

He has also made a full length motion picture, starring one Robert Mitchum, called—surprisingly enough—"Foreign Intrigue."

So far, he has worked out three types of "Foreign Intrigue" in his TV series.

The first, had Jerome Thor as the dirty-trench-coated wandering newspaperman, who, apparently never wrote a story but sure saved the world from a lot of evil nations.

The next year he starred James Daly, wearing a woolen coat with satin sleeves and sucking on an unlit pipe as he saved the nation.

This brought storms of protests from the dirty-trenchcoat fans, so the next year Reynolds brought along one Gerald Mohr as a Vienna hotel owner who wore a very

UNDER STARS AND STRIPES—Jean Simmons and her husband, Stewart Granger, British-born acting stars, have passed final examinations to become U.S. citizens. "After living here seven years, we have come to regard America and the American way of life so highly as to want to make our permanent residence here," Granger said. "We also are looking forward to welcoming another American citizen in a few months—our first child."

THE LONG BODY

by Helen McCloy

CHAPTER XXXIII

There were several more pages of the manuscript and Basil Wilting paused before continuing to read. Things were beginning to clear up for him now. At last he turned his attention back to the statement written by John Hazard before his death. Basil Wilting read:

"Whether the Mexican woman knew about ballistics or not, our Captain would know and I reminded Byrd Cushing of this. 'The captain won't investigate any further if the Mexicans don't press charges,' he replied. 'He doesn't believe one of us is guilty because none of us tried to run for it when we were under pressure. And, of course, the captain doesn't want to believe one of us is guilty. Anything that reflects on the troop, reflects on him. I'd be willing to bet he won't do anything else. It's all over now, past and done with.'"

"But I said, 'Is it, Byrd? Is anything ever past and done with?' And I was right although he was right about the captain."

"The experience changed both of us. We ceased to be boys for ever on 17th birthday. We had learned to know our own weakness as well as the weakness of others and that is growing up. Our great advantage of running away and joining the Army now seemed a pretty juvenile escapade. Byrd didn't argue a few days later when I told him I was writing my mother to tell her where I was. And I'm sure he was relieved as I when we were both discharged a few months later."

"Soon after I went East to college and entered another life so different that there were times when I almost wondered if I was really the same person. It was like another incarnation, a new life in another time and place, with myself as changed as my environment."

"I didn't see Byrd again until years later when I was practicing law in New York and he was a commercial airline pilot. We were married and you were with me, Alice, when I met him that next time on our honeymoon."

"Do you remember that vacation I took with Byrd in Mexico a year later? He hunted me up in New York and showed me a letter he had just received from Mexico. It was written on thin, green paper in a fine, spidery hand and it was from the woman Mercedes Maria Mendoza. I hadn't even remembered her name. She wrote she was dying, and demanded that we come to see her. 'How did she know our names?' I asked Byrd."

"Tim Rafferty must have told her long ago," Byrd said.

"I know Tim must have been positive all along that we were the men who had visited her that night. We may have fooled the captain, but we didn't fool Tim. He had told Byrd about the woman and Byrd and I had been together."

"Mrs. Mendoza had sent her letter to Byrd in care of the War Department. It had been forwarded to Byrd in care of his father."

"Byrd got leave from his job chartered a small plane and flew me down to a Mexican airport. We rented a car there and drove to the village. It had changed quite a bit—souvenir shops for tourists, American drug stores, some paved streets. Senora Mendoza was living at another address, an apartment in a new four-story building. She was gray at the temples and very thin, but defiant. She told us quite simply that she was dying of cancer. Her little girl was now 10 years old. She had no relatives and her husband's family had repudiated her and her daughter. She looked to us to provide for the child, for she held us responsible for her husband's death, and she reminded us that her failure to identify us had saved us from prison."

"But we didn't shoot your husband," said Byrd bluntly. "You did."

"I saved your life by shooting him," she told Byrd. "You owe me a great deal, senior. The bullet that was taken from his body is still in the black museum of our police department. The Army gun you used is presumable in the possession of another soldier now, but archives will show it was

U. S. Attitude to Russia May Prove Mistake

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (U)—It's easy to see in this country it has become a habit which may prove dangerous—to look coldly upon each new move the Russians say they make to ease tensions.

It has been both popular and safe in this country to be anti-Russian to the extent of belittling the actions taken over the past year by Stalin's heirs, shrugging them off as propaganda, or claiming American policy forced the Soviet actions.

But no one in this country can honestly say he knows the full significance of the changes which have occurred in Russia and the satellites, internally and externally, or how far they will go or where they will end.

There is no reason to believe the Russian dictatorship in the foreseeable future will melt away or collapse. There can be no illusion about the ultimate hopes of the Soviet leaders: A Communist world. They have talked of it frankly.

Communist party boss Khrushchev said in February the Communists everywhere would try to take over where they could peacefully by parliamentary means but, if necessary in a few stubborn countries, by violence.

That frankness provided justifiable suspicion about every Soviet move made thereafter. But suspicion alone can become a paralyzing force by acting as a substitute for detached appraisal and imaginative response to Soviet actions.

It is possible—perhaps only barely possible—that changes occurring behind the Iron Curtain will let loose forces which, once unleashed, may turn Russia into a more benevolent path than the present leaders intend or imagine.

The more rigid the American attitude remains, the less able this country will be to take advantage of Russian changes, even stop the real ones when they happen. It takes no imagination to say automatically: "The Russians can do no good."

This government's present foreign policy is the one laid down by President Truman—who himself remains highly skeptical of Russian intentions—to meet Stalin's threatening policy in the 1940s: military alliances and foreign aid.

Both may be necessary indefinitely. If the present administration has produced no major variations on the Truman formula to meet Russian policy shifts over though the Truman program was a failure to Stalin.

His heirs are even better armed than Stalin's day on they have publicly repudiated him and proclaim their intentions as peaceful. That may not be convincing in this country.

At their appearance of peacefulness the more they are bound to affect and influence American allies and neutral nations who, living next door to Russia, know they might be reduced to powder in an American-Russian war.

To them American rivalry, if it continues, may look sophomoric, effect may be to weaken American leadership.

It seems only a matter of time, if this country hopes to retain its leadership, that it will have to strike out on bold new lines to match and outdo the Russian changes.

Earl Long Again Louisiana Governor

BATON ROUGE, La. (U)—Earl K. Long, advocate of racial moderation and party loyalty, today takes over as governor of Louisiana for the third time.

The 60-year-old brother of the late Kingfish, Sen. Huey P. Long, becomes the first man ever to serve three times as Louisiana's chief executive.

After a four-year lapse, Long rode back to power with a smashing victory over four opponents in the Jan. 17 Democratic primary. He was unopposed in the April general election.

yours at that time. If the two were compared . . .

"She left the sentence open. I believe there is no statute of limitations for murder," she went on.

"She was much more knowledgeable and intelligent than we had ever realized, or she had become so since she had had to fend for herself and support her daughter. And of course she was right. We did owe her a great deal. We owed her our lives and our liberty."

"As a lawyer I knew that once you make any kind of reparations you are admitting guilt, the asumption being that no one makes reparations unless there is a wrong to be repaired. But what else could we do? Senora Mendoza said she had been supporting herself by renting rooms to tourists. She spoke bitterly of the poverty and narrowness of village life in Mexico. She had heard of the more comfortable life in America from her boarders. Why couldn't one of us adopt her child so that the little girl could be brought up in America with a good education and every material advantage? The child was clever. She had already learned idiomatic English from the American boarders and spoke it almost entirely without a foreign accent, mimicking what she heard, as children do, far more exactly than an adult can."

Senators of Arkansas Are Powerful

By GORDON BROWN

Washington (U)—The decision of Sen. Gore (D-Ga.) to retire from the Senate at the end of this year undoubtedly means heavier responsibility and added prestige for Arkansas Sen. Fulbright.

When George retires he will step out as chairman of the important Senate Foreign Relations Committee, this will advance Fulbright to the No. 2 Democratic spot on that committee.

But that isn't the whole story. The man who is ahead of Fulbright on the committee and who will become chairman next year—assuming, of course, that Democrats win control of the Senate—is Rhode Island's Sen. Green, a Democrat, who will be 89 next October.

There is no reason to believe that Green won't take over the chairmanship, if Democrats control, but there is some speculation that the senate Democratic leadership might seek to persuade him to retain the chairmanship of the rules Committee and let the chairmanship of the Foreign Relations Committee go to the next ranking Democrat. That would be Fulbright.

Assumption of this post would put grave responsibilities on the young Arkansas senator's shoulders in these days of continuing international crises. If it happens Fulbright would give up the chairmanship of the Banking committee, which he now holds.

Even if Green should take the chairmanship of the Foreign Relations committee Fulbright, as No. 2 Democrat, obviously would have to shoulder considerably more responsibility and help green in tight spots. This would have to be done in conjunction with Fulbright's duties as chairman of the Banking Committee.

Either way, it's more work and prestige for Fulbright.

Of course, the country might solve the question by voting Republicans back in control of the Senate, in which case the problem would become moot.

Should Fulbright become chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, no state would surpass Arkansas in importance and power of its two senators.

Sen. McClellan of Arkansas already is one of the most powerful men in the Senate. He is chairman of the Government Operations Committee and its Investigating Subcommittee, he is a high ranking member of the Appropriations Committee and is a member of the Judiciary Committee and its Internal Security Subcommittee.

If Fulbright is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee next year and President Eisenhower is re-elected, the administration can well expect heavier criticism of its foreign policy.

The Arkansas has spoken up frequently of late to criticize foreign policy, Secretary of State Dulles and President Eisenhower himself.

The other day when Sherman Cooper, ambassador to India, was before the Foreign Relations Committee, he mentioned a proposal for disposing of some surplus U.S. cotton and wheat to India. He said India favored the idea and that the State Department approved.

"Does the Agriculture Department approve?" asked Fulbright. "Yes," said Cooper.

"Then for heaven's sake," Fulbright said "why isn't it being done? Can't someone at the top make the decision? Here we have a proposal everyone favors and yet no one decides to do it."

Later he added: "That's the trouble when the country is operating without a man at the top to make decisions. Things just slide along. We shouldn't have a part time President."

Fulbright will be in Arkansas for several speeches this week.

On May 18 he will make two talks at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, and on May 20 he will be speaker at commencement exercises at Arkansas tech, Russellville.

Ark-La Gets Okay on Gas Service

WASHINGTON (U)—A Federal Power Commission spokesman said today Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., Shreveport, La., has been given temporary authority to build natural gas facilities to serve Dumas, Goul and Grady in southeast Arkansas.

The spokesman said the commission write Arkansas Louisiana May 10 going temporary authority to make the connections from Pine Bluff.

He said there was no indication when the commission might decide on the question of permanent authority. That usually follows as a matter of course.

Chisox Seem to Have Found the Combination

BY ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

What's gotten into the Chicago White Sox? All of a sudden they're belting the ball like crazy in support of a pitching staff that takes its lumps but somehow has managed to fashion a five-game winning streak.

Before the Sox started the fuss talk of American League pennant contenders stopped with Cleveland, New York and Boston.

Then boom! The Sox began clubbing the ball to make up for some shaky pitching, and now that the mound staff looks to have found itself, the hitters are still at it. In the five games, Chicago has collected 65 hits—an average of 13 a game—including nine doubles, two triples and seven home runs.

Last night they poked 14 hits off four Washington pitchers and beat the Senators 5-1. Bob Keegan, nine Nat hits. The only Washington run was unearned.

The victory pushed the Sox to within 1½ games of the AL lead, virtually on a joint basis by Cleveland and New York, who were rained out last night. Baltimore clipped Kansas City 9-5 and Detroit battered Boston 6-3.

In the National, Brooklyn used four unearned runs for a fifth straight victory in a 7-5 decision over St. Louis. Philadelphia, behind ex-Cardinal Stu Miller, beat Milwaukee 3-1 to end a 10-game losing streak. And the New York Giants outlasted the Chicago Cubs 6-4. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

Bob Nieman hit his second homer to get the White Sox started in a two-run second against Chicago Stobbs, then singled to open the fourth as Chicago made it 3-0. An error and doubles by Sherm Lollar and Ron Jackson provided two unearned runs in the fifth for the Sox.

The Orioles scored three in the third and four in the fourth off Lou Kretlow and Ed Burtch at Kansas City as Jim Wilson won his fourth.

Detroit ended a three-game slump by knocking Willard Nixon from the mound after eight hits scored five runs in 3 2-3 innings. Paul Foytack won his second, although needing help from Steve Gromek.

Rookie shortstop Don Blasingame contributed two errors and Pee Wee Reese, unaided, scored three runs as the Dodgers scored their four unearned markers in the fourth to hand Tom Poholsky his first loss. He had won three. Gil Hodges homered in a three-run Brooklyn first, while Bill Virden delivered a three-run blow for the Cards. Reliever Clem Labine was the winner.

Milwaukee, in the NL lead by 36 percentage points over St. Louis and only a game ahead of third-place Brooklyn, got a run off Miller in the seventh at Philadelphia, but the little right-hander hung on to win his first complete game since Sept. 15, 1953. Lew Burdette gave only two hits for six innings, but triple by Jim Greengrass tied it and Willie Jones single put the Phils into the lead in a two-run seventh.

Willie Mays and Don Mueller each homered and collected three hits, for five RBIs between them, as Johnny Antonelli hung on to dump the Cubs into the cellar.

Court Ruling Has Brought End to Crisis

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two years ago tomorrow the Supreme Court outlawed public school segregation by race. What has happened since then? Much and nothing. There has been compliance and defiance. There has been no crisis yet. One may come.

The court's ruling affected 17 states and the District of Columbia where white and Negro students were compelled by law to attend separate schools. A number of them have desegregated, more or less.

The hard core of resistance is in the Deep South, particularly in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia, whose legislatures have passed resolutions either flatly or obliquely defying the Supreme Court.

The court has not set a time limit on desegregation. It has ordered the lower federal courts to see that the states comply with "deliberate speed."

The crisis, if it comes, may come if the Deep South still refuses to budge when the lower courts say it is time to quit stalling. It is questionable many Southern leaders will wish to put the nation in crisis by persistence in their refusal.

What will the federal government do to back up the court's ruling if through unyielding Southern defiance, a crisis does come? No one in high position has produced an answer to that one.

No one can say precisely what "deliberate speed" means. But it's certain the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will not wait indefinitely for action without going into the lower courts.

Southern defiance has taken various forms: criticism of the Supreme Court, action by state legislatures, action by private groups, economic pressure on Negroes.

In turn Negroes, feeling for the first time in this century the Supreme Court was behind them, have become active in collective efforts to force an end to segregation, including economic pressure. Since Dec. 5, 1955, Negroes in Montgomery, Ala., have boycotted the city's segregated buses.

Many Southern whites have derided the nine Supreme Court justices, whose anti-segregation ruling was unanimous, as politicians who were invading rights and usurping the rights of Congress.

On March 12 over 100 Southern senators and representatives signed a "manifesto" calling the court's ruling illegal and pledging their states would use "every lawful means" of seeking its reversal.

These Southerners accused the court of trying to legislate. But there would be no civil rights legislation, and no end to school segregation, if it depended on the Southerners.

They have re-elected Congress for years from passing civil rights threatening to filibuster. They justify this on the ground that a minority has a right to protect itself against what it considers the injustice of a majority.

Southerners want it both ways, one way in Congress, another back home.

Back home, white legislatures pass segregation laws. They justify this on the ground that it is the will of the majority. Negroes are not in a position to filibuster in Southern legislatures.

What sometimes gets lost sight of is that the Supreme Court has not yet ruled on whether all forms of segregation are unlawful. It has outlawed segregation in schools and in recreation areas and on interstate buses.

But what of segregation in other areas of Southern life, like theaters or restaurants? In the two years since the school decision the court hasn't said clearly whether segregation is wrong in any place or activity where public funds are not used.

The sponsors like to point out that Thomas Jefferson and some of the other Founding Fathers gathered for relaxation in a tavern while composing the American Declaration of Independence.

That, of course, has endured much longer than the usual declarations of independence that flow in barrooms.

They like to point out that in Colonial days, as now, taverns were the centers of social and political discussion. As a matter of fact, in young New England town hall meetings and even court trials were held in taverns.

It might be a good idea even today to hold the Republican and Democratic national conventions in taverns. This would certainly make them shorter. It would be even better if they held both national party conventions in the same tavern at the same time, and let all the politicians uncork their oratory at once.

What can the average man do to honor National Tavern Month? Mother's Day and Be-kind-to-Animals Week have already taken place during this period. This stirs up a thought.

If you have sent flowers to your mother and tossed a box of kumel crunch to man's best friend, why not sit down and figure out some way to show your appreciation to the guy who has given you some of the best beers of his life—your favorite bartender?

I consulted a number of bartenders on what term they honestly would like this testimonial to take. To a man they proudly disdained any desire for small gifts, such as a motor car, a trip to Paris, or a $1,000 government bond.

Bartenders, after all, are not like big league baseball players.

Rough Convicts Have New Jailbird

CHICAGO (AP) — The 21 prisoners confined to the maximum security wing of the Cook County jail have a new jailbird — a blue parakeet — and regard it as a good luck omen.

Warden Jack Johnson permitted the prisoners to send for a plastic cage and keep the parakeet.

whole month and give us a rest," said one lady-hating bartender.

But most of the bartenders surveyed said something like this:

"If the customers would just shut up about their troubles for a while — and listen to our troubles — life would be a dream."

There you are. For most of the year the bartender is standing psychiatrist to his patrons. Why not, just for a month, become his psychiatrist?

The poor fellow might be so humbly grateful to find a listening ear he'll break down and even buy a drink on the house. Don't count on this, however, not even during National Tavern month.

Secret Service Is Set Up in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's late Sovereignty Commission, the states newest arm in its fight to keep segregation, had the authority today to buy information and to hire secret agents.

At a meeting of the 12-member commission yesterday, Gov. J. P. Coleman said the SSC would use informants and operate in much the same manner as the FBI.

Coleman said the investigators and informants will be known only to the commission. The group, set up by the 1956 Legislature to prevent federal "encroachment" on states' rights, also hired a full-time publicity director to explain Mississippi's position. The secret agents will serve as "eyes and ears" of the commission, Coleman said.

In debating the issue of hiring undercover agents, the commission agreed on secrecy. Because "it's possible we may want to hire a Negro to spy on Negro activities in the state."

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

Gold Bond insulation, here being packaged for use in the home, has just passed through continuous natural gas-fired curing ovens. Gas is supplied National Gypsum Company's Dover, New Jersey, plant by New Jersey Natural Gas Company, a customer of Texas Eastern.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas from the Southwest for use by the National Gypsum Company, makers of Gold Bond insulation, in the production of this packaged, efficient insulating material. Gas-fired curing ovens are now used to give the spun rock wool and resin in Gold Bond insulation the needed body, strength and resilience. National Gypsum changed to natural gas for this curing operation because it is clean, economical and allows critical temperature control. These are some of the reasons why more and more homeowners, too, are changing to natural gas.

Saxton Favored to Beat Turner

CHICAGO (AP) — Johnny Saxton, the newest welterweight boxing champion, rules an 8-5 choice to night to smother the whirlwind style of Gil Turner in an 11-round over-the-weight boxing bout.

The fight is at Chicago Stadium, scene of Saxton's loudly booed lifting of Carmen Basilio's crown in March and Turner's surprising third-round knockout by weak-hitting Al Andrews in 1954.

Turner once was a terror in the welterweight bracket until Kid Gavilan stopped him in the 11th round of a 1952 title shot.

For the last several years, Turner has campaigned as a middleweight. In January he defeated Jackie LaBua and then lost to Gene Fullmer a month later in his last shot.

The 26-year-old Philadelphia fighter in flurries, much like Gavilan, and has scored 33 knockouts while compiling a 50-10-1 record.

Saxton, also 26, is a clever boxer. His back-pedaling, shot-picking style against Basilio two months ago produced a highly controversial decision.

The Brooklyn cutie has one of Boxer's best record DS 50-52. He is credited with 20 knockouts. ABC will telecast at 10 p. m.,

Court Blasts AAU Handling of Athletes

By ED CORRIGAN NEW YORK (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union, which appeared to be bucking under the relentless pressure of the West Santee case today from the drawn-out legal battle more powerful than ever.

For Santee, America's greatest miler who took a long gamble by bringing the AAU to court on a legal technicality, it marks the end of the line as a competitor.

In upholding the lifetime ban imposed on Santee by the AAU, Justice Walter A. Lynch of the New York State Supreme Court yesterday minced no words in condemning the gangling Marine Corps lieutenant for openly flouting the AAU's expense rules.

Had Santee won the case, the AAU would have been reduced to nothingness. But the organization, which rules most amateur sports in this country, never has lost a court case challenging its authority, and it probably will be a long time before anyone else brings suit.

Santee and his Olympic ambitions had little to do with the result. No matter what the outcome, he never would have been criticized for the games. Now he can run only against service personnel, where he has met little competition.

Charles P. Grimes, Santee's attorney, seemed lukewarm about taking the case to a higher court. He said:

"I really don't know what we'll do until I talk to Wes."

For his part, Santee admitted for the first time that he did break the rules of the AAU. Heretofore, his case had been based on the contention that the Executive Committee of the AAU did not have authority to bar him and that his case should be turned back to his local Missouri Valley District.

At the Quantico Marine base, where he is stationed, Santee said that although Justice Lynch accused him of refusing to follow the AAU code, his infractions were committed with the aid of the promoters.

"That's what I've contended all along," he said. "Most of the meet promoters are AAU officials, and these are the ones who okayed any breaking of the rules. Who was I to question my superior officers?"

AAU officials were jubilant at the decision. Said President Carl Hansen: "The AAU has been fully vindicated. . . . The AAU would have failed in its function had it not acted. After a full and fair court hearing, the accusations made against the AAU were found to be baseless."

Hansen added that the AAU already has launched an investigation into its rules and practices, which could mean a sweeping

Big Leaguers End Season With Victory

Yesterday afternoon at Bradley, the Big League All-Stars finished up the spring baseball season with a 12 to 1 victory over the Lafayette County All-Stars. The game gave the Big Leaguers a spring season record of 11 wins and 2 losses, both losses were by 1 run.

Herb Johnson, the winning pitcher, gave up only 3 hits, walked 5 and struck out 15 giving him a season record of 6 wins and 1 loss.

Hope picked up a total of 9 hits with Johnson leading the pack with 2 singles and a triple driving in three runs. Travis Purdie with 2 singles also drove in three runs and Phil Jones cleaned the bases in the second with a line triple to left that missed a homer by inches.

Ken Jones, Lingo and Gilbert each got 1 hit.

The Big Leaguers ended the spring season with an overall team batting average of .409, striking out only 30 times as a team in 13 games. In the pitching department, Johnson won 6 and lost 1, Charles Rodden won 4 and lost 1 and Johnny Lingo won 1 and lost 0.

Leading hitters for the season were Johnson with an average of .650, K. Jones with .400, Travis Purdie with .393, John Lingo with .388, James Gilbert with .353 and Phil Jones with .300.

The Big League Roster includes Larry Cox who did a good job with the catching chores. Herb Johnson, pitcher-shortstop, Charles Rodden, pitcher, Johnny Lingo, pitcher-shortstop, Phil Jones, lb, Robert Daley, lb, Travis Purdie, and Frank Carver, 2b, Ken Jones, 3b, and outfielders James Gilbert, Jerry Fant, Dean England and William Watson.

The Big Leaguers will begin their summer season shortly playing night games almost entirely. This team is sponsored jointly by the Hope Star, Coca Cola Bottling Co., the Rotary Club and Citizens Bank.

WASHINGTON — Gen. Nathan F. Twining, on disclosing to the United Press that the Air Force now has H-bombs that can be carried by light bombers: "They are not too big."

CLINTON, Ill. — James P. Duty, on being released after 17 years in prison: "I saw my first juke box today. It's quite a thing."

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, on why a Navy commander instead of an admiral was given a particular job: "I have never noticed that one star more or less made a man any smarter."

BERLIN (UP) — West Berlin police had little trouble catching the thief who broke into a liquor distillery. He immediately drank his loot and made so much noise celebrating that he attracted a night watchman who called authorities.

changes. Many outside observers believe the AAU's rules to be outmoded and virtually impossible to follow.

Louis Nizer, the attorney who represented the AAU, said he never considered it a case of the AAU vs Santee.

"Whatever injury came to Santee resulted from his own conduct," said Nizer. "There are 100,000 athletes who live up to the rules for every violator. They must be protected."

In his decision, Justice Lynch brushed aside Santee's contention that the board of governors of the AAU did not have authority. He said it had both original and sole appellate jurisdiction, an opinion which definitely will strengthen the AAU's hold on athletes under its wing.

Justice Lynch castigated Santee for not taking the stand in court and said:

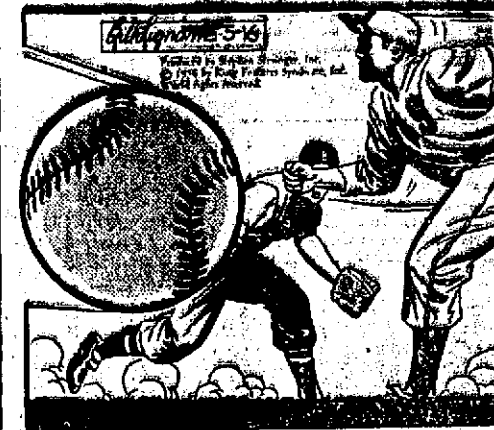

"His repentance, if any—and the court thinks there is none—comes too late."
